

High Rise Dryer For Wet Boots, Clothes

"It's become one of the handiest pieces of equipment on our farm," says Ron Riem about the "High & Dry" power dryer he invented for his own use but which worked so well he put them on the market.

"We farm and we're also avid sportsmen so we needed a way to dry boots, hip waders, hunting jackets and other clothes after a day in the woods or water, or working on the farm in the rain.

"There were shoe dryers on the market but they weren't designed for the kind of heavy use we required. We made the first units for ourselves. With three sons, myself, and a couple of horse-loving spouses, we always had wet, stinky gear all over the laundry room, basement and garage. We had to find a better way to handle our gear. But there was nothing on the market.

"The High & Dry power dryer is fitted with four strong plastic tubes with a fan in a base unit that blows air up through them. The dryer has no heat. Moving air does a good job of drying and is safe for all types of rubber, neoprene, canvas and leather. Most boots and clothing will dry overnight

"You can use it to dry full-length waders or items as small as kids' mittens or tennis shoes. It runs off 110-volt current. Because we knew it would operate in a wet environment, the electric motor is varnish dipped and has a stainless steel shaft. We've been making units for 5 years and have never had a problem. Cleans up easily with soap and water.

Waders and boots can be slipped right over the straight tubes. Three tube lengths are available. A clothes-drying accessory is available to fit across the top of two tubes to hold coats, overalls, snowmobile suits, etc.

"Wives like the High & Dry because it keeps dirty clothes out of their dryer and hunters like it because it keeps the smell of fabric softeners out of their clothes."

Sells for $79.99 fitted with four 12-in. long boot drying tubes. Can be equipped with full length tubes for waders and jackets for about $10 extra. The clothes drying attachment sells for $19.99.

Contact: FARM SHOW Followup, Ron Riem, Riem Enterprises, Inc., P.O. Box 543, Granger, Ind. 46530 (ph 800 379-2668 or 219 273-9981; fax 219 273-4484).

Space-Saving "Dresser" Fits Under The Bed

If you could use more storage in your bedroom, you'll like this new "dresser" that fits under the bed.

The "Bedroom Organizer" completely replaces the steel bed frame. It fits virtually all bed sizes.

Comes with three, six or 12 cedar lined drawers on both sides of the bed. Your choice of ponderosa pine or oak.

Prices start at $169.

Contact: FARM SHOW Followup, Anderson Mfg. Co., 5300 13th St., Menominee, Mich. 49858 (ph 800 851-9213).

New-Style Garden "Hoe" Has 8 Cutting Edges

"It's the best new garden tool developed in years," says Johnny Reyenga, inventor of a new-style hoe that features eight cutting edges that allow you to do a variety of yard and garden chores.

The Prescott, Ark., farmer, says the hoe's box-shaped cutting head is constructed of heavy 16 ga. steel. It mounts on a 42-in. long handle with three hex nuts and is spring-loaded so the cutting surfaces turn 30 degrees, then lock in place. It cuts in two positions with 12 cutting angles in each position.

Depending on position of the head, the hoe can be used for everything from conventional hoeing to cutting down chest-high vegetation. It can also be used to dig, aerate, pulverize, and remove soil, depending on how it's set.

Sells for $29.95.

Contact: FARM SHOW Followup, Johnny Reyenga, Rt. 6, Box 140, Prescott, Ark. 71857-9732 (ph 870 887-3678).

FARM SHOW®

New Products
Especially For Women And The Farm, Ranch Home

Powered Cob "Silker" Makes Corn Husking Easy

You can de-silk 12 bu. of sweet corn per hour with this new automatic silker from Black Jack Inc., which is also manufacturer of the "World's Fastest Corn Creamer" (Vol. 21, No. 4).

The "Silk-A-Way" corn silker consists of four plastic brushes mounted inside a 4 in. dia. aluminum drum that's turned by a 1/4 hp electric motor. The drum rotates at 600 rpm's and mounts inside a cardboard housing for safety.

To use, you simply insert each end of the ear for a second or so.

Sells for $275 plus S&H.

Contact: FARM SHOW Followup, Black Jack Inc., 1576 Lakeshore Boulevard, Jacksonville, Fla. 32210 (ph 888 384-9982).

Automatic Spice Selector

"It's the ultimate in spice storing and dispensing," says KitchenArt, manufacturer of this new automatic spice selector and measuring carousel.

The Select-A-Spice carousel holds 12 spices in separate containers and dispenses 1/4 tsp. of spice at the push of a button. (Containers can also be removed from the unit to shake or pour spices). The unit mounts on a swivel base that rotates 360 degrees.

Can be used on a counter top or in a cupboard, or mounted underneath a cabinet with optional hardware. The units can also be stacked for a total of 24 spices.

Sells for $39.95 without spices; $49.95 with spices.

Contact: FARM SHOW Followup, KitchenArt, Robbins Industries, 4420 Helton Drive, Florence, Ala. 35630 (ph 800 239-8090 or 205 760-8900; fax 8919).

"Flower Pot Tree"

Neighbors and friends will love this new "flower pot tree" that holds up to 23 standard size flower pots, says Valley Mfg., Dorset, Ohio. When filled, it looks like a solid tree of flowers.

The 5-ft. high stand is made from 1/8-in. thick steel. The flower pot holders are made from 14 ga. rolled steel and can be adjusted to accommodate any 6-in. dia. pot.

The tree stand is painted with Rust-Oleum Hunter Green enamel paint.

Sells for $135 plus S & H.

Contact: FARM SHOW Followup, Valley Mfg., 4799 Knapp Road, Dorset, Ohio 44032 (ph 800 859-4636).

